

ABSTRACT

A modulation level of a carrier for video and a modulation level of a carrier for voice are adjusted in a modulation level setting circuit 5 and a modulation level setting circuit 10, respectively, so that receivable ranges of a video signal and a voice signal become the same range. Next, both of video and voice modulation signals are amplified in a transmission device 23, and are transmitted.